PLANS & PRICING

Email Hello - price: Free

Send me an email to introduce yourself and tell me about your project - your ideas, a rough draft of a script, drawings, photos, a short video - whatever will help me understand what type of show you want to create. Tell me what you need - a jam session where we collaborate on ideas, develop comic business, demonstrate movement possibilities, acrobatic or slapstick techniques, designs for masks or puppets, help with your publicity including video editing and how to describe your work for PR purposes. In this email, you let me know how I can help and how you'd like to collaborate - a single session, a set number of sessions, or multiple sessions spread out over a few weeks or even a few months (it's fine if you don't know exactly how many, we can work it out as we go). I'll take a look at what you send and suggest ways I could help.

Video Intro - price: $20 / £17 / €19

After the Email Hello we can schedule a 30 minute video introduction using Zoom, Skype, FaceTime or WhatsApp. This is a good way to meet 'face-to-face' (especially for artists I've never worked with). We'll talk more in depth about your ideas, I'll give detailed feedback on what you've sent in the Email Hello, we'll discuss ways of collaborating, and how you want to proceed.

40 for 40 - price: $40 / £37 / €39

This plan is based on the video conferencing software Zoom and its 40 minute time limit for meetings (we can also use Skype, FaceTime or WhatsApp and set the same time limit). In this session we jump right in! You're set up to show me what you're working on, we connect online, and I give immediate feedback verbally, or get on my feet and demonstrate my thoughts physically. I've used this set up with a number of artists and it's the next best thing to being there! It really works. It allows us to work together wherever you are in the world, at your convenience, as often as you like throughout the entire creative process. I've had great results working with artists using this technology - from Spain to Japan, Canada to Mexico, Russia to Belgium - as long as you have an internet connection, we can work together.

Multiple Sessions - price: Let's Talk

If you want to schedule multiple sessions, we can discuss how many and what it would cost; I give a discount on all additional sessions for any one project. It doesn't matter if the sessions are spread out over 1 week or 1 year, as long as we're working on the same project, all additional sessions are discounted from the 40 for 40 price. After that initial session, we can discuss how we'd like to continue via email, how many more meetings we think we'll need, and what it would cost.

You can contact me at: joedieff@gmail.com. I look forward to working with you!
